

Investment Objective

The Conservative model aims to provide a combination of long term capital growth and an income for investors who are willing to accept a low to medium level of risk by investing across global markets into a range of asset classes. Equity exposure within this portfolio will not exceed 40%. The portfolio's benchmark is the ARC Sterling Cautious PCI.

Commentary

Over the month, the Conservative portfolio returned 0.48%, underperforming the ARC Sterling Cautious PCI. Financial markets delivered strong returns during August, with performance being driven by the US and Japan in particular, which rose around 7-8%. In the US, the technology names continued to outperform, but there was also a recovery in some travel and leisure businesses that had been hit earlier in the year. Whilst the Fed reaffirmed its determination to support the economy, challenges are resurfacing as job losses are beginning to come through and supplementary unemployment benefits have come to an end. The UK remained one of the weaker regions, with political uncertainty lingering and a domestic stock market that is light on in-favour sectors (such as technology). Risk appetite was also evident in bond markets, where corporate bonds and high yield outperformed global government bonds, which fell during the month. We find the portfolio remains suitable for a client looking to obtain a broad exposure of assets diversified by manager, investment style, geography and income.

A central model is created for each of our model portfolios, where the performance summary, asset allocation, fund holdings, charges and yield quoted on this factsheet are based on the central model portfolio. Where the central model is replicated, such as through a platform, any individual portfolio is unlikely to be identical to that of the central model as a result of the timing of the investment or any restrictions of the platform provider. There may be some circumstances when certain investments (e.g. property funds) may not be readily realisable and investors may experience difficulty in selling the investment or in obtaining reliable information as to its value.
